ALEXANDRIA, VA., MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 5, 1900.

PRICE 2 CTS.

When we see a young woman go to meet fate that way it brings to mind the Frenchman's saying of the Charge of the Light Brigade. "It was magnificent but it was not war." It is magnificent to see the young girl face the future so fearlessly, but it is not life. No young woman is ready for married life unless her physical condition is up to the standard of marriage, in the health of all the delicate womanly organs, and rarely is that the case.

Young women entering upon the state of marriage will find no friend so helpful as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and elasticity to the organs peculiarly feminine, prevents the drains that ruin the health, and makes the ordeal of motherhood so easy that it is practically almost painless.

At an early stage of married life," writes Mrs. Flora Ann of Dallas, Jackson Co., Mo., "I was greatly bothered with painful periods, and was unable to work for a time. I became convinced there was something left of me and skin and bone. My husband became alarmed and got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' After I had taken one and after I used those there was no more pain, and I began to gain in flesh very rapidly."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice answers every question. It is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. For the cloth-bound edition send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A NEW VANDERBILT BREAK.

A dispatch from Nice says: The Vanderbilt contingent, with the exception of W. K. Vanderbilt, sr., who has gone to Paris for a few days, is still in force here. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr., passes his time chiefly aboard the Valiant. When ashore he stayed at the Hotel Paris, Monte Carlo, where he retains a suite of rooms continuously.

When the Grand Duke Michael arrived he invited the Vanderbilt family to a dinner party, including as guests the Countess Torby, the Duchess of Marlborough, W. K. Vanderbilt, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr.

The following day W. K., sr., had a luncheon at the Hotel Paris for the same party. Mrs. Oliver Belmont was not at either entertainment, although she is staying at the Hotel Grand Bretagne with the Duchess and Harold Vanderbilt.

W. K. Vanderbilt, sr., has not been seen at the Grand Bretagne, nor has he visited W. K., jr., and wife at their apartments in the Quai Massena. The young couple and the Duchess have, however, frequently visited him on the Valiant, and have dined with him a couple times a week at Monte Carlo.

Mrs. Belmont has never been of the party. She is only seen at Monte Carlo on days when W. K., sr., is aboard the Valiant. In fact, pretty elaborate precautions appear to be taken to save Mr. Belmont and W. K. Vanderbilt, sr., from the awkwardness of encountering each other.

Mrs. Belmont goes about shopping every morning with the Duchess, and they drive together in the afternoon. There is a persistent rumor that the Duchess had a quarrel with the Duke about his going to the South African war, as the family physician strongly opposed his facing the hardships of the campaign in view of his wretched physique and consumptive tendency.

The Duke, however, made it a matter of family honor, and was backed by all his relatives, especially by his mother, Lady Blandford, whose interference the Duchess strongly resented.

The Duchess has been incessantly pressed by Lady Blandford to go with her to Rome, but shows no signs of stirring, though when she came to Nice it was only to stay nine days. The Duchess and Mrs. Belmont receive few visitors and scarcely ever go out to entertainments.

W. K., jr., and his wife are always together, either promenading or driving their little white auto, in which they make long excursions to the surrounding country. They recently made an excursion of several days to Pau, and also went to Paris and back.

The Duchess attends service at the American Church every Sunday, and always stays for communion.

HICKS FOR MARCH.

By the 3rd or 4th a high barometer will have succeeded storm conditions and cold, fair weather will have traveled eastward from the northwest over most of the country.

A regular Vulcan storm period runs from the 6th to 10th, with moon at first quarter, and extreme north declination on the 7th. Southerly winds, falling barometer, warmer weather and general storm conditions will appear in western parts early in this period, and more storms of rain and snow will be progressive from west to east about Thursday, the 8th, to Saturday, the 10th.

We have many times explained that on and about March 11 will fall a crisis in magnetic and electric phenomena. About this time, also, there is great reason to anticipate equatorial and cyclonic storms up through the south seas and islands and along our southern coast. We predict, however, that the disturbances normally due about the 11th will this month be delayed or prolonged until the 14th, 15th and 16th, at which time moon will be in apogee, on the celestial equator and at her full. Violent equatorial hurricanes and gales will occur on many seas, and around many coasts along and bordering on the tropical girdle of the globe, not far from this central perturbation in March.

A marked blizzard and boreal storm over northern sections of this country need not surprise our readers about the same time.
